Regarding the IDS dated 5/23/08, the lined reference were not considered since JP 200178833 was already considered in IDS dated 10/24/06 and the Taiwanese Office action was NOT considered since it was not in English and only page 8 was submitted.

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Shiro (JP 07-238417) or Shiro '035 (JP10-266035) or Shiro '917 (JP 410053917A).

Shiro, Shiro '035, and Shiro '917 all teach a polyolefin fiber, for example as polyethylene fiber comprising recovery angle of less the 30 degrees and after bending the filament at 90 degrees. See patent abstracts.

Regarding the issue of diameter, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to vary and control the diameter (size), since it has been held a change in size is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237.

Art Unit: 1794

Regarding the issue of color, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to vary and control the color of a fiber in accordance with the intended use and desired end product requirement.
